

Special Item 12: Insult Golem

Insult Golem

Tiny construct, unaligned

This small wooden figurine fits in the hand, but is surprisingly heavy. It is generically Humanoid with only simple sculpted features. It is, in fact, a tiny Golem. When first examined it appears inanimate, but after a few moments it will begin to spew invectives and biting insults at anyone nearby in a mockingly whiny voice. It tends to stay put, but if left on a level surface, it will shuffle around, following the target of its insults as much as possible to continue its tirade. If placed in a bag or pack, it may sometimes climb far enough to poke its head out and let loose more abuse, though it has a strong sense of self-preservation, and will not leave whomever owns it, despite the incessant stream of taunts.