

Special Item 31: Invulnerability Potion

Invulnerability Potion

Potion, Uncommon

This potion looks much like mercury, as it appears as a liquid, silvery metal. The flavor is also metallic. The imbiber of an Invulnerability Potion will be resistant to all forms of damage for a period of 2 (1d3) minutes. Note that there are a number of different types of Invulnerability Potions that Alchemists can produce. Some only protect against certain types of damage while others allow the protections of the potion to last longer.