

Special Item 10: Serpentine Torc

Serpentine Torc

Wondrous Item, Uncommon

This ancient bronze neckband is a thick braid of twisted metal strands with the appearance of a serpent biting its own tail. It has small ruby eyes that glint even in utter darkness. If the owner grasps the torc, the serpent will go limp, allowing it to be easily removed; when placed back against the neck, it will stretch around to fit a throat of any circumference. It will stay firmly in place unless removed, though it may on occasion slither around in a circle of its own volition.
